k. Employ Your Unit In Accordance With Its Capabilities.

(1) Ensure the tasks assigned are reasonable.

(2) Assign tasks equitably among elements of your unit.

(3) Use the full capabilities of your unit before requesting assistance.

3. CORE VALUES. The Core Values are the backbone of the Marine Corps - they are what sets the Marine Corps apart from other services.

a. HONOR. The quality that guides Marines to exemplify the ultimate in ethical and moral behavior; never to lie, cheat, or steal; to abide by an uncompromising code of integrity; to respect human dignity; to have respect and concern for each other. The quality of maturity, dedication, trust, and dependability that compels Marines to act responsibly; to be accountable for actions; to fulfill obligations; and to hold others accountable for their actions.

b. COURAGE. Courage is the mental, moral, and physical strength ingrained in Marines to carry them through the challenges of combat and the mastery of fear; to do what is right; to adhere to a higher standard of personal conduct; to lead by example, and to make tough decisions under stress and pressure.

c. COMMITMENT. The spirit of determination and dedication within members of a unit that leads to professionalism and mastery of the arts of war. It is the ingredient that enables 24-hour a day dedication to Corps and Country; pride; concern for others; and an unrelenting determination to achieve a standard of excellence in every endeavor. Commitment is the value that establishes the Marine as the warrior and citizen others strive to emulate.

4. TROOP LEADING STEPS. The six troop leading steps comprise a logical thought process that aids in the planning for and execution of a given mission. The thought process assists unit leaders in making the best use of time, facilities, and personnel. The degree of consideration for each step varies with the mission and time available.
a. The acronym BAMCIS is used to guide the leader through the six troop leading steps. BAMCIS can be used in any situation, in either garrison or field exercises. The acronym BAMCIS stands for Begin planning, Arrange for reconnaissance and coordination, Make the reconnaissance, Complete the plan, Issue the order, and Supervise.

(1) Begin planning. A leader should begin planning as soon as he is assigned a mission to accomplish.

(2) Arrange for reconnaissance and coordination. Reconnaissance is an investigation of a route or a specific area. This can either be done physically on the ground to be investigated or visually from a map.

(3) Make the reconnaissance. The next step is to make the reconnaissance. In some cases the leader may be unable to make a physical reconnaissance because of time constraints or to ensure surprise.

(4) Complete the plan. After completing the reconnaissance, the leader reviews the preliminary plan and decides on a course of action. The plan should be simple and should not endanger Marines or equipment any more than what is necessary to accomplish the mission.

(5) Issue the order. Before issuing the order, the leader should orient subordinates from a vantage point. If this is not possible, they should be oriented using maps, sketches, aerial photos or terrain models.

(6) Supervise. Supervise is the most important troop leading step. During this step the leader ensures the order is carried out as intended.
